The United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) aim to create a better and more sustainable future for all. These goals focus on eradicating poverty, hunger, and inequality; improving welfare and livelihoods; fostering peace and social participation; preventing environmental degradation; and promoting partnerships to achieve sustainable development by 2030. The SDG encourages countries and the private sector to support and advance these objectives. It provides a framework for guiding businesses and assessing their actions against established benchmarks, holding them accountable for their commitments. The palm oil companies' sustainability practices are evaluated and linked to the SDGs. By identifying specific targets and indicators relevant to their operations, companies and smallholders alike can effectively contribute to advancing the SDGs.
